HONORS TO THE GREAT EMANCIPATOR.

Beneath the Lincoln Monument at Chicago Park.

Good morning and citizens, rejoice, and pleased children of Abraham Lincoln. I have been through the park yesterday afternoon. The meeting was a marvelous one. I saw the people of the town, the band, the band playing, the orchestra, and the band playing, and I saw them all.

The Lincoln Monument was unveiled yesterday afternoon. The statue was a marvelous one. The monument was dedicated to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, the great President of the United States. The monument was unveiled in the presence of the President, the Vice-President, and other dignitaries. The statue of Lincoln was unveiled by the Rev. Mr. Lincoln, who explained its significance. The statue was then unveiled by the Rev. Mr. Lincoln, who explained its significance.

I was with the statue when it was unveiled. We all stood and looked at it. The statue was then unveiled by the Rev. Mr. Lincoln, who explained its significance. The statue was then unveiled by the Rev. Mr. Lincoln, who explained its significance.
