

MRS. HUMPAL-ZEMAN.

A Bohemian Woman Who Is Interested in the Advancement of Her Sex.

Mrs. Josephine Humpal-Zeman, editor of Zenske Listy, a magazine published in Chicago and printed in Bohemian, in the interest of women, is in Baltimore visiting her country people. She will remain here until Thursday, when she will go to New York, and then home. Yesterday Mrs. Zeman was given a carriage ride around the city by a committee of ladies representing Bohemian societies. Today Mr. V. J. Shimek will take Mrs. Zeman to Washington and Mt. Vernon.

Born at Pisek, Bohemia, in 1870, Mrs. Zeman came to this country with her parents when she was an infant. Her father was active in political and social life among his countrymen in the West, and was noted for being an eloquent speaker and a great organizer of societies. In 1883 the family returned to Bohemia, where Mrs. Zeman entered a high school and had private instruction in Germany.

When her education was completed the family returned to the United States and the daughter was married to Mr. Zeman, of Cleveland, Ohio, editor and publisher of a Bohemian paper. She then began editorial work on her husband's paper. She has been quite successful in working among young women for their social and educational advancement, and is enthusiastic in all modern efforts for improving the condition of humanity.

Her newspaper work has brought her in contact with leading Bohemian men and women, among whom she counts many warm friends. She is said to be the best platform speaker among Bohemian women in this country, and uses her native tongue with an ease and a fluency that is captivating.

During the International Council of Women at the World's Fair Mrs. Zeman took a prominent position and made addresses in English, Bohemian and French.
