NEW SYSTEM OF VENTILATION.

A Plan for Keeping Health and Dying Out of Houses.

Thinking of health? Two of the greatest causes of disease are colds and influenza, and these are often caused by the air in our houses. A new system of ventilation has been devised by a French engineer, and it is now being used in many of the best hotels and public buildings in Europe. It consists of a system of pipes and fans which draw the air out of the rooms and replace it with fresh air from the outside. This system is simple and effective, and it is well worth the attention of every one who is interested in the health of his family.
